Anti-Peronists Rally Behind New President

By RAMON JIMENEZ

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's anti-Peronist political parties showed signs today of rallying to the new president, Jose Maria Guido. But the shadow of military rule hovered over the nation.

The diminutive 51-year-old former Senate president set about to assemble a Cabinet to deal with the confusion created by the military's ouster of President Arturo Frondizi. In this, Guido is expected initially to get support from almost all political parties. But he faced formidable opposition ahead, both at home and abroad.

Angry and possibly violent opposition was expected from the followers of exiled dictator Juan D. Peron, who drew more than 2.5-million votes—35 per cent of the total—in the March 18 elections that touched off the crisis and from the powerful confederation of labor, with more than 3-million members.

The military wants Guido—they apparently consider him under their thumb—to once again drive the Peronists underground and sharply curtail the powerful labor unions, largely Peronist. It is up to Congress to make the decision.

The military showed signs of splintering. The War Ministry announced that five top generals who had opposed the coup here asked for retirement.

Guido also faced a knotty problem of winning diplomatic recognition for his regime. No foreign diplomats attended Friday's ceremony in which Guido glumly took the oath of office publicly under the eyes of the nation's military bosses.

Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt announced a policy of "belligerent repudiation" of the coup and withdrew the entire Venezuelan diplomatic mission from Buenos Aires.

In Washington, State Department press officer Lincoln White said the United States would consult with its "friends in this hemisphere" before deciding on its policy.

Guido's biggest encouragement came from indications that he might be able to weld the two major parties into some kind of coalition. Together they control Congress, whether or not the Peronists are allowed to take office.

Red Officials Enter Pleas of Innocent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gus Hall and Benjamin J. Davis, identified top officials of the U.S. Communist party, pleaded innocent today to charges of violating the Internal Security Act of 1950.

Hall, 51, and Davis, 58, were accused of failing to register with the attorney general as required by the law.

The Justice Department describes Hall as general secretary of the party and Davis as national secretary.

U.S. Dist. Judge Matthew F. McGuire gave their attorneys 30 days in which to file motions attacking their indictment by a federal grand jury. They were allowed to remain free under bond of $5,000 each.

McGuire said the government would be given 30 days to reply to the motions of the defendants.

Moments after the brief conference on the courthouse steps and declared that they are innocent, that the Justice Department's prosecution resulted from a pro-fascist act, and that they represent the best interests of the American people.

Hall said his only crime was refusing to plead guilty to the findings of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Davis called communism a science which will transform capitalist nations into Socialist societies.

George Harrod
Needs in the Operation of a Guidance Program, is the topic to be discussed by George Harrod at the April 3 PTA meeting at 7:30 p. m. in the High School auditorium.

MRS. HARROD HAS BEEN COUNSELING TRAINING and director of counseling center at Southern State College for the past 11 years and has had many articles published on counseling.

U. S. Objects to Russian Draft Treaty

By PATRICK MASSEY

GENEVA (AP)—The United States objected today in the 17-nation disarmament conference—which is still far from an accord on fundamental issues—to Soviet efforts to steam-roller a Soviet draft treaty through to adoption.

"You can't build a house before you've drawn up a blue print," Ambassador Arthur H. Dean told the gathering.

Dean said it is useless to discuss proposals for a treaty, line by line, until at least some measure of agreement has been reached on the real issues of disarmament.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin contended that the draft forms a satisfactory basis for discussion of those issues.

Indian and Brazilian delegations urged that Dean and Zorin, as conference co-chairmen, get together to try to agree how the discussion should proceed.

Dean maintained that no form of treaty can be discussed before an understanding has been achieved on several important aspects.

Examples, he said, are the problem of eliminating nuclear stockpiles, elimination of nuclear delivery vehicles, measures of inspection and verification that disarmament rules are being obeyed, and the shape of a future international disarmament organization.

The Soviet draft calls for complete disarmament within four years. The West does not accept this time limit and demands a detailed understanding on each step in the process.

Hal Roach Jr. Is Bankrupt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Hal Roach Jr., son of the famed producer of early-day film comedies, says his assets total $39,633 and his debts $1,050,802. In other words, he's bankrupt.

Roach, 43, filed a bankruptcy petition in federal court Thursday. He described himself as an unemployed motion picture producer and said he made $2,500 last year and $500 this year.

Roach Sr., now 70, made a fortune producing comedies starring Harold Lloyd, Laurel and Hardy and Our Gang. The Hal Roach Studio in Culver City passed into receivership in 1960.

Bud of TV Series Hauled Into Court

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Billy Gray, who portrays the young son Bud in the "Father Knows Best" television series, has been indicted to a charge of drunken driving.

A jury trial was set Wednesday for April 23. Judge Robert Dulin set April 12 for the preliminary hearing on another charge, possessing marijuana. Police said they found a plastic bag containing what appeared to be marijuana seeds in the actor's car. They said Gray, 24, admitted having a few beers but denied any connection with the narcotic.

Hi-way Story Described as Brilliant

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
A PTelevision-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"U.S. 1: American Profile," the Thursday night NBC special, was the biography of a highway—the historic old road that threads its way from Fort Kent, Maine, down the Eastern Coast 2,500 miles to Key West, Fla.

But it was more than that. It was a brilliant, entertaining demonstration of how great television can be, when imagination and loving care are invested in a program.

Viewers traveled the length of the highway in an hour's time, savoring the changing character of architecture and accents as the scenery shifted from snowy, Christmas-card landscapes dotted with red barns to palms and tropic sunshine.

gave us capsule history as the highway wound past famous sites of the Revolution and the War Between the States. And all through the program ran a most adroit musical background, at times stirring and martial, as the cameras focused on a big 13-star flag flying over Fort McHenry—and at other times raucous as during marvelous gaudy shots of the Miami playground blazing with neon.

In a word, it was a great show. A salute to writer-producer Lou Hazan.

Eric Sevareid had been tapped for CBS' Sunday night news plumb—the 11 p.m. report, which was the program Douglas Edwards wanted. Sevareid, who seemed to be getting more of a network build-up than in recent years, replaces Walter Cronkite in the spot on April 29. Cronkite is relinquishing the program to have more time for the week-day early evening news show which Edwards leaves next month after 14 years.

Don't Cry, You Are Too Pretty

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—"Don't cry. You're too pretty to cry."

Those apparently were the last words spoken to an Atlanta woman whose body was found suspended by a mattress cover in her jail cell Thursday.

Police said the words were voiced by 21 prisoner who saw the woman, Margaret Elizabeth Shuler, 25, crying on her bed. Officers said Miss Shuler had been arrested on several traffic charges.

Whizzer White Selected for Supreme Court

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former All-America halfback Byron R. (Whizzer) White has been appointed to the U.S. Supreme Court—the first team of the nation's courts.

White, deputy attorney general, was named to the court Friday night by President Kennedy.

At 44, he will become the court's youngest member if he's confirmed by the Senate for the seat to be vacated Sunday by Justice Charles E. Whittaker who is retiring on doctor's order.

The first Senate reaction to White was favorable. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he couldn't be happier. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois described White as "one of those solid people who makes a decision and stands by it."

Kennedy called newsmen into his office to announce his selection of White—his first Supreme Court appointment.

His varied experience in legal practice, in government, and in the Navy—in addition to his remarkable scholarly accomplishments and his service as law clerk to Chief Justice Vinson—have given him a humane and understanding approach to people and to problems," said Kennedy.

"He has excelled in everything he has attempted," Kennedy said. "And I know that he will excel on the highest court in the land."

White had no experience on the bench, but Kennedy said the bar association has rated White "as 'exceptionally well qualified' for his new responsibilities."

However, Rep. George Meader, R-Mich., a member of the House Judiciary Committee, disagreed. He said the President had delivered the court a "devastating blow by appointing a totally unqualified political minion to a post regarded by every lawyer and every citizen as the acme of legal attainment."

White got word of his appointment by telephone while attending a social science foundation meeting at the University of Denver.

He said, "I'm very, very honored. I'm very happy the President has the confidence in me to nominate me and I'll try to justify his confidence. It's a very large undertaking."

Segregation Out on U. S. Property

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration said today that starting in September 1963, it will cut off from segregated schools the special federal aid given schools serving children who live on federal property.

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff announced the decision to a House subcommittee which is studying the progress of integration since 1954. He had been asked by the subcommittee for a ruling as to whether it was legal to grant federal funds to segregated schools.

The programs affected by the decision are those making grants for school construction and operating costs to districts that include large numbers of children who live on federal property.

Ribicoff said his department has determined there are about 200 federal installations now served by school districts that segregate their public elementary and secondary schools. He could not tell the committee in which states the installations were on how many children were affected.

Ribicoff said he was announcing the ruling today but that there would be no attempt to implement it before the school year beginning in September of 1963.

Before then, he said, he hopes the districts involved will take constructive action and that Congress will take legislative action to carry out the ruling.

Can't Lure Tenants

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office said Thursday two Arkansas laws prohibit the luring of tenant farmers from landowners. Asst. Atty. Gen. Denis Horton said the laws provide for fines ranging from $25 to $500 for persons convicted of inducing away laborers or renters contracting with employers before such contracts expire. The ruling went to C. S. Hemenway, Wheatley Justice of the peace.

Forest Fire Threat Eased

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Overnight rains curtailed the forest fire threat in north Arkansas for the time being, State Forester Fred Lang said today.

The forest fire situation in the state had become critical after four days of dry, windy weather.

Thursday 57 fires burned over 2,872 acres in north Arkansas. More than half the acreage was between the Ozark and Ouachita national forests.

Rain was reported during the night in all sections of north Arkansas except Fayetteville, Lang said, and Fayetteville had enough rain Thursday to dampen the woods.

Cold Pushes Across the Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold air pushed eastward across the nation's midsection today, dropping temperatures from Texas northeastward to Ohio and slowing runoff from melting snow in flood-plagued Midwest areas.

Rain and snow were triggered by the cold air which dropped temperatures as much as 30 degrees in 24 hours. It was expected to spill later today into the South-east, where temperatures during the night stayed in the mild 50s and 60s.

The rain was generally light but the snow reached a depth of eight inches in northeast North Dakota, blocking several roads. Rapid City, S.D., and Pueblo, Colo., measured two to three inches.

Flood waters appeared to be receding in northeastern Nebraska and the Floyd River in northwest Iowa crested at Sioux City around midnight. An estimated half-million sandbags were used to contain the Floyd, which meanders for 10 miles through Sioux City, a packing plant center of 89,000 population. About 175 families had been moved to higher ground.

Although the city was spared by the Floyd, it faces a weekend threat from the Big Sioux River which flows on its west side. Both rivers empty into the Missouri River at Sioux City.

A crest of 25 feet is expected today on the Little Sioux River at Cherokee, a northwest Iowa town of about 7,700. Water ran four feet deep in parts of Cherokee Thursday night and 25 blocks were inundated. About 75 families were evacuated.

Across Iowa to the east officials in Marshalltown appealed to other central Iowa communities for volunteers to help sandbag an earthen dike protecting the city of about 22,000 from the Iowa River. Up to 300 homes are threatened.

The Cedar River forced about 40 families from their homes at Charles City in northeast Iowa. The community of 9,964 has been placed under a state of emergency.

The Zumbro and Root rivers in southeastern Minnesota continued to plague small towns along their banks. Zumbro Falls near the Mississippi River was flooded. The Mississippi appeared to be handling heavy runoff from Minnesota and Wisconsin without any trouble.

Flood waters were receding at Rochester, Minn., after reaching first floor level in some areas. Several roads in southeast Minnesota were closed by flood waters.

The flood threat eased in northeastern Nebraska where several hundred persons had been driven from their homes. Major areas threatened now are around the Bellevue area near the confluence of the Platte and Missouri rivers south of Omaha, and the Missouri downstream around Nebraska City.

Department Store Sales Are Up

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Department store sales in the Eighth Federal Reserve District rose four per cent in the week ended March 25 in comparison with the corresponding week of 1961.

A report issued by the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank today showed sales increases of nine per cent at St. Louis, five per cent at Memphis and six per cent for seven smaller cities. Little Rock sales declined 13 per cent and Louisville eight per cent.

District sales were down three per cent in the latest four-week period with every reporting point showing a drop. St. Louis and the smaller cities fell two per cent. Louisville and Little Rock seven per cent and Memphis four per cent.

For the year to date district sales have equalled the 1961 figure for the comparable period.

Local Telephone Office Busy Place — Long Distance Calls Number 745,000 Annually

By MARY ANITA LASETER

"The telephone plays an important part in our family life and social life, and it is indispensable to the business world," said columnist Karr Shannon recently. He further stated that "invention of the telephone was one of the greatest steps in progress, possibly ranking second to the invention of the wheel."

In Hope the original telephone office was across from the Post Office on the second floor of the building now housing the Western Union office. It was later moved upstairs over the present location of Foster's Family Shoe Store.

There it remained until the new building was completed a few years ago on South Main.

To be sure, the operation usually referred to as "Central" is no more for Hope has been on the Southwestern Bell dial system since October, 1961. However, there are only about three less employees on the switchboards now than before the present system was installed.

Why are so many operators still needed? Because Hope is the location handling long distance calls for 13 communities besides her own. These include Ashdown, Blewett, Bodaway, DeQueen, Foreman, Fulton, Horatio, Murfreesboro, Prescott, Tom, Okla.; Washington, Waterloo and Umpire. The Oklahoma community is just over the state line from Foreman.

Last year the 37 operators in the Traffic Department of the telephone office here handled over 745,000 long distance calls. "These were for the towns listed above as well as for Hope," explained Mrs. Lena Maryman, chief operator. In this department Mrs. Alice Kate Baker is assistant to the chief operator.

As Wire Chief, Fred D. Gray is in charge of the local Plant Department. Other personnel at the central office are Ed Astin, Henry Fenwick and Mrs. Pat Brown. In the Commercial Department or business office are Miss Ora Mae Moody, Mrs. Daphne Levens and Mrs. Marjorie Butler. Miss Moody has been employed by the telephone company longer than anyone else in the Hope office. This year marks her 40th anniversary.

It has been found that after going to dial a town's phone calls more than double in a short time. This was true in Hope, and the busiest day occurred during the show in January when 2,834 calls were handled in one day. There has been an increase of 230 telephones in our town over last year.

Including business phones, residence phones, extension phones and these in aqua, beige, white, pink, blue, and black, there are now 4,139 telephones in Hope.

Even H. L. Mencken, who professed theoretical opposition to Mr. Bell's invention, said, "I get more out of them than any other current wonder." Since all telephone personnel are exceptionally nice to deal with, any unpleasantness is usually derived from the person on the other end of the line — the caller. For instance, have you ever had this experience?

"That noise! What is it? I rise frantically and sleepily wonder, 'Now who can that be?' It must be important to 'phone here this way. In the middle of night — (or is it day?) I lift the receiver with increased fear, but to my answer a 'Wrong number' I hear. Nothing is urgent, as way my belief. So I go back to bed with mixed fire and relief. (Next week we will look at more people who work at our local telephone company.)"

Negro Attorney Takes New Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Wiley A. Branton, Pine Bluff Negro attorney, said Wednesday he will accept the position of director of the Southern Regional Council's new bi-organized Voter Education Project.

His office will be in Atlanta, but Branton said he would continue to represent the Negro plaintiffs in the Little Rock school and recreational facilities desegregation cases.

Branton said he planned to initiate new action in the school suit unless the school board moves ahead faster with desegregation. He said Little Rock has only taken integration, which does not comply with the Supreme Court's desegregation decision.

Some Refuse to Cross Picket Line

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Some construction workers reportedly refused again today to cross picket lines established by an office employees' union at three of 12 Atlas missile sites ringing Plattsburgh Air Force Base.

One unofficial estimate was that about 300 remained off the job despite pledges their leaders were said to have made that the men would be ordered back to work. A spokesman for the Construction Trades Council here said that some men were declining to work but that he could not estimate the number. He said more than 1,900 construction men were employed at the 12 sites.

The pickets of the International Union of Office Employees were described as partially successful. The office union, seeking recognition by the Bechtel Co., a subcontractor, began picketing sites Thursday at Ellensburg, Chazy Lake and Champlain.

In Washington Thursday, a spokesman for the Missile Sites Labor Commission said leaders of the building trade unions had promised to order their men back to work.

Observers here believed, however, that the men were urged to return but told to act according to their own judgment.

Leo Wallace of Lyn, Mass., a vice president of the office union, said the picketing was in protest against alleged unfair labor practices. He said the company had laid off and refused to rehire four office workers who were union organizers.

According to the Air Force, the company contended the employees were among 200 persons laid off because of a change from two 8-hour shifts to one 10-hour shift. In Washington, a Senate investigations subcommittee said Congress must consider steps to curb strikes at missile bases. Union members have placed the "green ahead of devotion to the safety of their country," the committee said.

Houses Damaged by Brush Fire

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP)—Two houses suffered extensive damage Wednesday as winds up to 40 miles an hour fanned a brushfire over a 150-acre area southeast of here.

Five other houses were slightly damaged before the fire could be brought under control.

Fire Chief Lon Cook attributed the damage to smoke and heat. He said the two houses most seriously damaged were owned by Kenneth Graham and G. W. Cooper.

Three trucks from the Springdale Fire Department rushed to the suburban area about two and a half miles southeast of here, and the city's street sweeper was used to wet down a path in front of the flames.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

Stay Granted to Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—U.S. District Judge Gordon E. Young granted the city of Little Rock an additional 11 days Wednesday in which to prepare its answer to a suit seeking to force integration of its recreational facilities.

Original deadline for the answer was today.

The suit, filed by a group of Negro residents, seeks desegregation of parks, swimming pools, golf courses and other recreational facilities.

New deadline for the city's answer is April 9.

Dry Run May Prove Value of Inspections

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—International inspectors will arrive soon at four U.S. atomic plants for what a U.S. spokesman calls a dry run to prove international inspection will work.

"The four peaceful-use reactors, opened to the international sleuths, for the first time are the graphite research and medical research reactors at the Brookhaven National Laboratory, N.Y.; the experimental boiling water reactor at Argonne National Laboratory, Ill.; and the organic cooled and moderated power reactor at Piqua, Ohio.

The inspectors for the International Atomic Energy Agency will come to this country under an agreement signed Friday by the United States and the agency.

The technical aim is to prove that the atomic facilities are not being used for military purposes, to train the inspectors and to work out any kinks in the inspection system that might be uncovered.

There is also a political goal from the U.S. point of view: To knock a hole in Soviet claims—advanced at the Geneva conference and elsewhere—that the inspections the West says are needed for arms-control accords are unworkable and are really designed, only for espionage.

Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, in signing the agreement for the United States, called it "a dry run to find the bugs in the system, to prove that it is possible technically, politically, administratively."

Another U.S. authority added that the inspectors would be limited to the four designated facilities—among the hundreds of nuclear installations scattered through the United States—and not be allowed to "shop around" elsewhere.

Under the agreement, which runs from one to two years starting June 1, 12 inspections a year will be permitted at the Brookhaven graphite research reactor, two at the Brookhaven medical research reactor, four at the Argonne plant and two at Piqua.

The agency has yet to appoint its inspectors. Russians could be on the inspection team.

No Gas Hike for 1st Time Since 1958

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. notified the state Public Service Commission Thursday that natural gas costs during 1961, it did not fluctuate enough to cause a change in the firm's rates.

"This is the first time since 1958 that Arkla has not used an escalator clause through which it passes on to its customers the increase in the cost of gas.

Lindey Hatchell, vice president of the utility, told the PSC that cost of gas sold to its customers in 1961 increased only one-fourth of one cent compared to the previous year — not large enough to justify either an increase or decrease.

In 1958 the company increased its rate 3 1/2 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. In 1959 rates were increased by 1 1/2 cents and another 2 cents in 1960.

Last year the PSC combined the increases into a $1.87 minimum rate change, requested by the utility. Arkla contended the escalator clause raises were disposed of by this action.

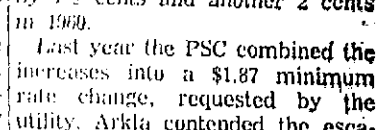

Following the PSC order last year, several cities fought the increase but lost. The cities now are appealing the decision to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Arkla does not consider the escalator raises as an increase, referring to them as adjustments offsetting production and labor costs.

The clause is designed to permit automatic annual reductions as well as increases.

Teachers Must Retire at 72

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas law makes retirement of teachers mandatory at age 72, the attorney general's office ruled today.

The opinion went to Mrs. Joe Emerson Sr. of Mena, Polk County probation officer, who asked if the mandatory provision held for a teacher who was both mentally and physically capable of continuing on the job.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Dennis Horton wrote that retirement is compulsory at the end of the fiscal year in which the 72nd birthday is reached.

In an opinion to Justice of the Peace C. S. Herniman of Wheatley, Horton wrote that an 1883 law makes pirating of a laborer or a renter under contract to another person a misdemeanor.

Penalty for violation of the old law is a fine ranging from $25 to $500 in addition to all damages suffered by the affected employer or landlord, Horton wrote.

He said the law applies whether the contract is verbal or written.

The population of Arkansas nearly doubled during the five-year period ending in 1940.

Testament Has Pictures on Each Page

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The New Testament is now being published with pictures on every page.

It looks very much like a magazine. Pages are 8 1/2 by 11 inches, with a slick, heavy paper cover. Price is $1. But this is no magazine, no collection of Biblical stories for children. It is the entire New Testament, King James version, with 5 black and white photographs, nine maps and six diagrams.

In keeping with the present trend to make the Bible a book to be read and understood as well as owned, the American Bible Society is making an important contribution with this "New Testament with Pictures." They also are publishing it in Spanish, the second most-used language in this country.

The Gospel of St. Luke, for example, begins with a full-page picture of a boat on the Sea of Galilee. The second page contains a map of Palestine in the time of Christ and short discussions of the history and geography of Palestine and Jerusalem.

"These pictures make Christ's world live for children," says Dr. Gilbert Darlington, consultant to the society.

On the page with the parable of the sower, there is a picture of a man sowing seed. It shows the man's clothing, how his head is protected from the sun, how he carries the seed, how the ground has been prepared and the topography of adjoining land. On a page which contains both Jesus' teachings about paying tribute to Caesar and the widow's mite, there are representations of three Roman coins translated in the Bible as pence and two referred to as mites.

Another point besides the pictures is the method in which the Scripture is presented. It is written in paragraphs, and in sections according to subject.

An index to the illustrations is a quick guide to both pictures and text. Passages illustrated are usually on the same page as the illustration. And the subject titles make verses easy to find.

Alford With GOP

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Gazette reported today that Rep. Dale Alford, D - Ark., joined Republican efforts Thursday in an attempt to send the president's tax revision bill back to committee. The newspaper said Alford was the only Arkansan to favor the GOP effort. He was reported also to have been the only Arkansan opposing final passage of the measure.

May Be Candidate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Asst. Atty. Gen. Thorp Thomas, 38, a Saline County native, said Thursday he may seek the post of attorney general. Thomas said he would run only if Frank Holt, the current attorney general, does not seek re-election. Thomas has been in the attorney general's office for nine years, including four under T. J. Gentry, four under Bruce Bennett and one under Holt.

Beauty helps for spring combine convenience and efficiency to make you prettier than ever. An artist's palette of eye shadow is found in one thin compact (left). Colors contained in this compact are lilac, green, blue, silver and gold. This handsome woman (center) uses an aerosol spray to provide dramatic streaking for her silver-gray hair. Another new compact (right) contains powder formulated especially for dry skin. It is a combination make-up base and powder done in a choice of nine tints. The compact itself is a handsome design that takes refills.

DOROTHY DIX Rift in the Lute

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My husband and I have been married three months. Everybody said on our wedding day, "This will be a happy marriage. They have everything: youth, love, money!"

True, we have a beautiful home, two ears and money in the bank. We're good-looking—both of us, and young. What more could we ask for? Ah, but there's a rift in the lute!

Soon after our wedding night I remarked that I would like to have a family some day. Without a word my husband slapped me so hard I shall never forget it. Being warm-hearted, I impulsively put my arms around him, to give him a kiss in passing. At least I did until I got sent to my room for what he termed "an undue display of affection." I wanted to tell him off but lacked the nerve. He is very strong and when he raises his hand I freeze in terror.

Yet I love him and would be unhappy to see our marriage break up. Must I always remain the unloved bride? Please don't say, take him to a doctor. I tried to but soon discovered this was not the answer. Help me, if you can.—Abused.

Dear Abused: Your husband may be a brute or devoid of tenderness, or both. Maybe he's incapable of romantic love. Perhaps his parents were incapable of it themselves. There could be a dozen and one reasons for his hostility. But after all, you've only been married three months. Adjustment to marital relations takes time.

Psychiatric help is occasionally needed. Aversion to love-making usually indicates a personality disturbance. Even though you discount the benefits of a medical conference, I suggest that you have another talk with your doctor. But bear this in mind, the success or failure of your marriage depends more upon the mood of your whole relationship than upon sex alone. If the first is satisfactory, the second will adjust.

Dear Helen: My mother-in-law is an amateur psychologist. She eats, sleeps and talks the darned stuff. As a rule it goes in one ear and out the other, with me, but now she's trying it out on my little girl. She believes in letting a child do whatever it wants, so that later in life, it will not want to do anything wrong. (I know this sounds silly.) She had six children, none of whom were raised by the methods she is applying to mine. All turned out well but I'm leery of her current jabberwocking. What should I do?—H.

Dear H: Gently, but firmly, tell your mother-in-law "Hands off!" A child becomes confused, just as

Will Turn Flies Loose on Texas

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is hatching plans to produce 75 million flies a week and turn them loose in Texas.

It is also planning to add to the iron, bamboo and other curtains dividing nations a fly curtain between Mexico and the United States.

There are no plans, however, to change the name of that song to "The flies of Texas are upon you," and the program is not intended to stimulate the sale of fly swatters.

What the government has in mind is eliminating a livestock pest—the screwworm fly—that is costing cattlemen about $125 million a year. In its larval stage the fly feeds on the flesh of cattle. It can kill a newborn calf in a week.

The idea is not new. It was used with success a few years ago in Florida. But it has never been tried on such a scale and in country without the natural barriers of ocean and gulf that Florida has.

How do you eliminate flies by producing them at the rate of 75 million a week Science and sex are the answer.

It seems a male screwworm fly rendered sterile by radiation is just as interested in female screwworm flies as his untreated brothers—and she in him. Flood an infested area with sterile males, let nature take its course, and pretty soon no larva, no flies, and no problem.

The Department of Agriculture, which is already producing 10 million sterile flies a week and losing them on unsuspecting females in Texas, wants $3 million to expand the program at once. Its request was made public today by House Appropriation subcommittee.

The harsh winter in the Southwest has probably killed a lot of the flies, the department said, and if it moves in now on a big scale the problem will be that much simpler.

This will be no fly-by-night scheme, department witnesses said. Once the flies are eliminated from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and other infested areas, millions of irradiated flies will be dumped periodically in a 50-mile path along the Rio Grande to infest.

All the delegates agreed to submit any comments and suggestions for a draft preamble to the U.N. secretariat here by Monday morning.

Dean and Zorin will consider these proposals as they get down to their task of writing an agreed preamble. They expect to report back to the full conference with a finished document by the middle of next week.

Western sources said a mood of surface harmony prevailed but that there was some disquiet in the Western camp about Zorin's evident determination to have the conference perform its work largely on the basis of the detailed Soviet draft disarmament treaty.

Campus Tunnel Caves

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A Jonesboro, Ark., man was one of two workers killed Thursday when a tunnel caved in on the University of Mississippi campus. The victims were identified as Jimmy Norman, a foreman for the Central Plumbing and Heating Co. of Jonesboro, and J. R. Livingston of Starkville, Miss. They were working on a sewer line to a new men's dormitory.

Arkansas savings and loan associations reported a 17 percent gain in total assets in 1961 over the year before.

Survey Crew Missing

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—A search was launched here Thursday for a member of a government survey crew, one of five men in the boat capsized in the Ouachita River. Authorities identified the missing man as Eldon Fox, 24, of El Dorado, a neof five men in the boat which capsized 20 miles south of here during a survey operation.

P. B. Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Services Administration asked Congress Thursday to authorize construction of 28 new federal buildings, including a big $2,903,000 post office and court house at Pine Bluff, Ark. The GSA said construction funds totaling $170,838,500 would be sought after June 30, 1963 for the new projects.

in the East. Then—after a dance for nonviolent patients at the psychiatric unit's social hall—he seemed in lighter, more cheerful spirits. "I met my wife at the dance," he said.

Mrs. X was brought to the same hospital March 8 after she created a disturbance at a Beverly Hills business building. When she was ordered transferred to Norwalk State Hospital she seemed sad: "I want to say goodbye to my husband," she said. "We were dancing together."

Last Friday authorities decided it would do them good to meet again. Plans were made to have Mrs. X transferred to the hospital at Camarillo.

Wednesday the plans were canceled. Authorities said Mr. X—still unaware of plans to be reunited with his wife—collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Parking Lot Notice

The Parking Lot at Hazel and Division Streets owned by Hope Star has been graded, gravelled and marked — and reservations for parking space at $3 per month in advance are now being taken, to be effective Monday, April 2.

Reservations may be made at Hope Star office, 212-14 S. Walnut St., from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.; or remittance may be made by mail, and an available lot number will be assigned.

One warning will be given autos parked without reservation; after that they will be towed from the premises.

No curbside parking is permitted on either the Hazel or Division sides of the parking lot as this would block entrance to the numbered stalls.

Happenings in Argentina an Old Story

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — What happened to President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina was an old story which this time had a painful ending for the United States.

The things he tried to do—like getting deadheads off the government payroll, trying to save a bankrupt country, permitting free elections and then canceling them out—had all happened before.

And what happened to him—being thrown out by a military junta—wasn't new, either, although a bit of a shock to this country which had been banking on better relations from 1955, when Dictator Juan Peron got bounced, until 1958 when Frondizi was elected. From then until Thursday, when he was sacked, Frondizi went through perhaps 50 different crises.

His big mistake was in thinking he had been so successful in restoring the Argentine economy, and was so appreciated by the masses, that he could afford to take chances.

Peron's strength had been in the masses to whom he gave repeated wage raises, social security and other benefits. After he was bounced, the Peronists and Communists were barred from running for office.

Frondizi this month persuaded the military it was safe to let them return to the polls. Nine million of the 21 million Argentines voted March 18 on representatives in the General Assembly and officials in the provinces.

The result: The Peronists won 43 of the 86 assembly seats and scored a number of victories in the provinces. This was too much for the anti-Peron military people who, traditionally, had been on the side of the rich.

They put the heat on Frondizi to cancel out the Peronist victories. He yielded and did. By now the military had lost faith in him and Thursday threw him out, setting up Dr. Jose Maria Guido as president.

This performance—permitting a democratic election and then nullifying it—may have angered people in Argentina and elsewhere but even this was just a repetition of the past.

In this century different dictators in Argentina canceled out elections when they didn't like the results. They never forgot that when one reformer in 1916 permitted free elections a maverick whose sympathy was with the masses got elected. This was

Highway Meeting Is Postponed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A meeting in Washington at which members of the American Association of State Highway Officials were to have discussed federal aid for primary, secondary and urban road systems has been postponed.

State Highway Director F. R. Oliver said, however, that the topic was scheduled for discussion April 10 by the group's executive committee, and that a later meeting of other officials might not be necessary.

The AASHO wants Congress to increase aid to the road systems from $925 million to $1 billion.

Oliver said the larger meeting was called off because accommodations for the group were not available.

He returned Wednesday from Washington where he attended a planning session sponsored by the Highway Research Board and the Bureau of Public Roads.

Oliver said the principle topic at the meeting was the problem of congested highways in urban areas, but that problems created by rural population shifts also were discussed.

Dedicates Reactor

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea today dedicated its first atomic reactor, a 100-kilowatt research unit. It cost $320,000, and the United States supplied $330,000.

Hipolito Irigoyen.

He was a forerunner of Peron. He packed the government payrolls with his supporters. He helped labor unions. But he was a dictator who kept power, directly or through a hand-picked successor, 14 years.

At least five times in this century the military has taken over, ruling directly or through an approved dictator. Several times the economy was wrecked.

And it was really wrecked by Peron who got elected in 1946 and reelected in 1952. Under him the anti-foreign attitude in Argentina came to full flower. He nationalized a number of industries, like the railroads, to make them strictly Argentine.

When Frondizi was elected in 1958, after three years of military rule following the expulsion of Peron in 1955, he had the job of trying to pick up the pieces and get the country back on its feet.

He put in an austerity program which hurt the poor people more than the rich. For one thing, he held down wages while living costs were going up over 100 per cent. Only now were real wages beginning to approach the purchasing power they had in 1955.

He didn't make himself popular, either, when he found it necessary to chop thousands of Peron's followers off the government payrolls.

He relaxed tariff restrictions on the import of a lot of heavy machinery—which was all right for big manufacturers—but not on small equipment like trucks and tractors, which poorer people needed.

He put taxes on the export of Argentine farm exports. This meant that while the farmer might not have gotten more for his products, the price of them sold abroad was higher and made competition tougher.

He tried to get the government-owned railroads—Peron's doing—back into private hands and ran head-on into trouble with government in the provinces.

He encouraged foreign oil companies to go into Argentina to help develop its own natural oil resources and this rekindled some of the anti-foreign feeling.

Meanwhile both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations, hoping that Argentina under Frondizi might do all right and line up against communism, had pumped in aid. Argentina under Frondizi got over $400 million in American government aid.

The only thing which seems sure about Argentina's future is that it is unsure.

THE STORY: Police Captain

Peter Self is interviewing associates of the murdered Robert Schneider in Buffalo.

Chapter 12

Stan Michaels' entrance into Reardon's glassed-off cubby hole was elaborately casual.

"I'm sorry I didn't get in earlier, Paul," he began, "I want to clear the weekend schedule with you."

"I've made one out if you want to take a look at it," Reardon passed a scrawled piece of paper across to Michaels who didn't bother to pick it up. He had hitched himself up on a corner of the desk and was morosely staring at his swinging shoe.

"That cop has been back again," he said irritably. "How can we get anything done if he's underfoot all the time?"

"It's a pain in the neck. He was down here too."

"And if that isn't bad enough, he's started yapping about Schneider's private life. Who did he see after hours, how did he spend his time, where did his money go? This is a factory, not a confession."

So that's what's burning him, thought Reardon. I thought he didn't know. I suppose you can't expect him to see that the little tart isn't worth all this.

"... and I don't see how we can be expected to know about that sort of thing," Michaels' voice had ended on a note of outright interrogation.

"Well, we told him we don't know anything," slowly replied the foreman, trying to warn Michaels, reassure him, and maintain formal ignorance all in one breath.

The two men looked at each other. Complete communication was achieved without one more word spoken.

Michaels hoisted himself off the desk and blundered out the door, leaving Reardon relieved and thankful that he had been spared any open discussion.

Stan was not nearly so satisfied with the results of their talk. His fury at being forced to beg silence from his foreman was submerged by alarm. Reardon's quick comprehension made it all too clear that he was dealing with common knowledge. Sooner or later Self would pick up the trail. He hurried back to his office and dialed his daughter's number. He found himself counting the rings until she answered. On the eighth, there was a click.

"Jeannie?"

"Oh, Poppa, why do you keep calling? I just got the baby to sleep."

"Listen, honey, Pete Self has been around again."

"Well, what difference does that make to me? I barely knew Bob Schneider."

But Stan Michaels was not as adept as Reardon at tactful, unspoken communication; he struggled to express his concern.

"The police are checking up on Roy—asking about how he and Schneider got along."

"Well, they haven't been to me," his daughter shrilled defiantly. "Why should they? It wasn't Roy who was always at Bob's throat."

Michaels was now sickened with anxiety by his daughter's defensive hostility. Ordinarily she was more inclined to sullen silence than to ringing hysteria. "Honey, they're bound to find out," he pleaded. "We've got to think up a story."

"No! I've got to hang up, Pop."

SMALL MEASURE

Of all things — a man measuring his religion with an eye-dropper. An eye-dropper is used to administer small doses of medicine but it is not proper in the realm of religion. The mercy of God is an ocean divine, a boundless and fathomless deep. An eye-dropper is much too small to convey riches so abundant. How unfortunate is that life that will attempt to take the bounties of God with an eye-dropper. Yet, there are those among us who are satisfied with second-hand religion... the kind a man gets when he attempts to let his wife do his church-going for him. God seeks to talk to all of us direct. Mister, He doesn't want your wife delivering yours via the eye-dropper. Go to church... listen to the Divine voice of God as He seeks to pour His infinite grace and goodness into your soul. Don't be satisfied with such small measure... an eye-dropper.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions, stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial and the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

So They May See == 2 Corinthians 13 == So They May Hear

THIS IS THE THIRD TIME I am coming to you. In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word be established.

2. I told you before, and foretell you, as if I were present, the second time; and being absent now I write to them which heretofore have sinned, and to all other, that, if I come again, I will not spare:

3. Since ye seek a proof of Christ speaking in me, which to you-ward is not weak, but is mighty in you.

4. For though he was crucified through weakness, yet he liveth by the power of God. For we also are weak in him, but we shall live with him by the power of God toward you.

5. Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6. But I trust that ye shall know that we are not reprobates.

NOW I PRAY TO GOD that ye do no evil; not that we should appear approved, but that ye should do that which is honest, though we be as reprobates.

8. For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.

9. For we are glad, when we are weak, and ye are strong: and this also we wish, even your perfection.

10. Therefore I write these things being absent, lest being present I should use sharpness, according to the power which the Lord hath given me to edification, and not to destruction.

11. Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you.

12. Greet one another with an holy kiss.

13. All the saints salute you.

14. The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen.
